Greater Farm Safety Part of War Program

Accidents Cost People $4,000,000 During '41

"I knew I shouldn't have done it," is a remark often made by accident victims after the damage has been done. And because the war now makes the full working ability of every man and woman more important than ever before, greater accident-prevention care should be taken.

Accidents cost the American people $4,000,000 in wages, medical expenses, insurance, and property damage last year. A total of 102,500 persons were killed. 350,000 permanently disabled and 8,950,000 temporarily injured.

Much has been written on how to prevent accidents, but the best remedy is individual care and thoughtfulness.

Common among the causes of accidents is placing hands between gears, chains, cutter knives or other parts of machinery in motion. In addition to avoiding this danger, other precautions are listed as follows:

Do not cut toward yourself when using a knife.

Do not climb a ladder until it is properly placed, firm and steady.

Use a safety rope or strap when climbing a tree for pruning.

Drive tractor and car carefully.

Field machinery will last longer if operated at moderate speed. Farm machinery and equipment, as well as industrial machinery, are now provided better than ever with safety devices.

Agriculture in Industry

By FLORENCE C. WEED

Tung Nuts

Back in 1904, Dr. David Fairchild of the government bureau of plant industry secured a quantity of Tung nuts from China. They were planted widely in this country, in all except cold climates, and from this beginning, has sprung a new industry which aims to furnish essential quick-drying oil to the paint industry.

A bumper crop in 1940 provided 5,000,000 pounds of tung nuts with a million dollar income to growers. A narrow belt in the southern states, 50 to 100 miles wide, has been found best suited to growing tung trees.

These come into bearing in the third year. They yield nuts with woody hulls the size of small apples inside of which are from three to seven seeds. Machinery used in crushing the seeds is similar to that used for crushing oil from cotton seed, peanuts and soybeans. The residue left is pressed into cakes and returned to the grower who uses it for fertilizer.

During the last ten years, before the outbreak of the war with Japan, oil valued at ten million dollars was imported from China each year. Much of this was of inferior grade and adulterated with other oils. It has sold from 5.1 cents to as high as 27.2 cents per pound in barrels at New York. With this foreign supply unavailable, the major source for American product is finding a ready market.

Mills equipped for dehulling and crushing tung seed have been established in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Is Your Food Poundage Up?

In a population of 133 million, appetites vary tremendously. There may be dainty eaters while others are hearty eaters, but adding machine experts have calculated that each of us would have had on the average, 1,422 pounds of food in a year if all the food were evenly divided in the five-year period 1929-1934 In the "prosperity" years 1925-1929 the average went up 52 pounds to 1,474 pounds

HENRY DANIEL JOHNSON

1861—1943

At 11 P. M. March 23, Henry D. Johnson passed away at his home near Wildway. His removes another of the few remaining "old line colored people." Henry Daniel as he was familiarly call ed, was a very outstanding leader of the colored race in his neighborhood. He was for a number of years a deacon and leader in the Chimes Baptist Church, and a member of that church since h. was 13 years old. His passing will be a great loss to the church and to his host of friends. H. was a constant reader of the Bible; if you called at his home on a Sunday afternoon, you would find him with his Bible on his lap, and he would fix unto you portions of the scripture to show that the present troubles of the world through which we are passing are the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecies. He would say that "According to the scriptures the Japs do get zero, but they ain't go stay." He was fully convinced that the suffering and hardships we are going through are a punishment He is sending us on account of our rejection of the Saviour, and our forgetting and ignoring of God's commands. Uncle H. ry was of a very happy disposition, having in store an unusual supply of wit. He was the center of attraction among the whites, who so much enjoyed his witty answers to the questions they were sure to put to him.

With the passing of Uncle H nry goes the last one of that family of servants who belonged to the family of the writer, and I sincerely mourn the passing of a true friend.

Uncle H nry was very industrious, thoroughly honest and saving. He up enough to buy himself a home, of which he was justly proud. In early life he married Cynthia Branch, who with one son, Willie Johnson, survive. He was laid to rest in the colored family burying ground on the old Agee homestead where he was born.

—N. R. Festherston.

A check up on the whereabouts of 1,600 rural young men in an Ohio county showed that about 40 per cent were in the armed service and 32 per cent had moved to nearby industrial centers.

Designate Flag Day

Friday, April 2nd has been designated as Flag Day in Appomattox in memory of men in the Service. The new organization, "Sirifces for Service Men," will be active in selling flags the entire day to pedestrians, homes and business houses. Children in the graded schools are making flag stands and posters to be placed in the town. A group of high school girls and the Boy Scouts will assist Mrs. Wm. W. Burke, finance chairman of the organization, in the sale of the flags. The proceeds will be used to increase the activities in the county remembering and helping men in the Service.

Director

Major Ruth Cheney Streeter of Morristown, N. J., is director of the Marine Corps Women's Reserve which will replace Leatherneck fitted for active service on the fighting fronts.

Washington, D. C., March 24.- Point values that consumers will use beginning next Monday March 29, for meats, cheese, fats and oils, and canned fish under the newest and largest wartime food rationing program, were released today by the Office of Price Administration.

Examination of the "Official Table of Consumer Point Values" — which every seller of newly rationed foods will be required to display in his store— discloses that meats-fats rations are relatively more liberal than the rations of processed foods. The weekly allotment of 16 points per person, represented by Red Stamps in War Ration Book Two, compares with an average weekly allotment of 12 points per person under the canned goods program.

Almost all popular meat cuts have point values of eight points a pound and less. Butter is assigned a value of eight points a pound, and a similar point value is given to all of the rationed cheeses. All canned fish is valued at seven points a pound.

Red Stamps from War Ration Book Two, which are good for the purchase of meats, cheese, edible fats and oils and canned fish, will become valid and will expire as follows:

The rationing of butter and of meats applies to home-made country butter or home-butchered meat sold direct by farmers to consumers. The farmer will have to take stamps from War Ration Book No. Two (red stamps) from the consumer just like a merchant does. A store requires stamps from his customers. Sale of these items is not permitted at all until March 29. On and after that date ration stamps are required, even if the meat or butter was contracted for before March 29.

A joint meeting of the county War Price and Ration Board, and of the county Agricultural War Board will be held here Monday afternoon to work out a plan for administration of the new program.

Point value o flard and other shortening is set at five points per pound. Oleomargarine also has a point value of five per pound.

Other Government Information

Allowed 6 Gals. of Gas

Autoists in Virginia now will get only 6 gallons of gasoline a month, although they may use it for any kind of non-occupational driving. A-books will still be good for 3 gallons but they must last for four months. Shortage of gas and oil supplies, and greatly increased demands for fuel for farm machinery caused the OPA order, which became effective March 22.

More Turkeys This Year

Turkey growers plan to raise about 37 million turkeys this year, according to February 1 returns from over 5,000 farmers throughout the U. S. This would be the largest crop of turkeys ever produced in this country, 12 percent larger than the 1942 crop.

Second War Loan Drive

During April the U. S. Treasury will borrow the sum of 13 billion dollars in its second war loan drive.

"This money, which is needed to back up our Armed Forces, will be raised through the continuing sale of War Saving Bonds, and tax saving notes, treasury notes, and the offering of a number of new treasury issues designed for every class and type of investor," said Secretary Morgenthau.

Can Sell Below Ceiling

There is nothing in any OPA regulation preventing sales of butter at lower than ceiling prices set recently at the creamery and wholesaler levels. These ceilings represent the maximum prices at which this commodity may be sold.

Deferment Appeals

All appeals involving claims for occupational deferment are now being handled by the Selective Service Board of Appeal in the area of the worker's employment.
